HISTORY

Established in 1940 by insurance industry leaders and the University of Pennsylvania leaders to address the inadequate supply of collegiate professors, research, and publications on important risk management and insurance issues.

Named after Wharton professor, Solomon S. Huebner, whose life’s work focused on the advancement of insurance education.

Moved in 2012 to Georgia State University’s Maurice R. Greenberg School of Risk Science (GSRS) to align its mission with the largest dedicated academic risk department in the world. Georgia State's unmatched recognition enhances the Huebner Foundation's programs and our Scholar's education.

HUEBNER IMPACT

Huebner alumni provide an estimated one-third of all collegiate insurance education, instructing and mentoring thousands of students worldwide each year.

Huebner alumni have served as state insurance commissioners, CEO’s, senior officers, and program heads of the American College of Financial Services, Certified Employee Benefits Planner, The Institutes, and LOMA. Huebner alumni have also conducted research to inform important public policy, drafted legislation and testified before Congress.
HISTORY
Established in 1940 by insurance industry leaders and the University of Pennsylvania leaders to address the inadequate supply of collegiate professors, research, and publications on important risk management and insurance issues. Named after Wharton professor, Solomon S. Huebner, whose life’s work focused on the advancement of insurance education. Moved in 2012 to Georgia State University’s Department of Risk Management & Insurance to align its mission with the largest dedicated academic risk department in the world. Georgia State’s unmatched recognition enhances the Huebner Foundation’s programs and our Scholar’s education.

• International Insurance Society Global Center for Insurance Excellence
• Accredited university risk management program by the Professional Risk Management International Association (PRMIA) since 2011.
• Society of Actuaries Center for Actuarial Excellence
• #1 in actuarial science research in North America
• Ranked #4 undergraduate RMI program in 2021 by U.S. News & World Report
• Home to the Center for the Economic Analysis of Risk (CEAR)

HUEBNER IMPACT
Huebner alumni provide an estimated one-third of all collegiate insurance education, instructing and mentoring thousands of students worldwide each year. Huebner alumni have served as state insurance commissioners, CEO’s, senior officers, and program heads of the American College of Financial Services, Certified Employee Benefits Planner, The Institutes, and LOMA. Huebner alumni have also conducted research to inform important public policy, drafted legislation and testified before Congress.

SCHOLARSHIPS
The foundation fulfills its mission of supporting collegiate risk management education primarily through scholarships available to qualified doctoral students in Risk Management and Insurance.

HUDBNER/ARIA DOCTORAL COLLOQUIUM
The Huebner/ARIA Doctoral Colloquium provides community building and academic support to outstanding Ph.D. candidates worldwide whose research focuses on risk and insurance. Candidates are chosen to participate in the Doctoral Colloquium where they present their research in detail and receive feedback from leading academics in the field.

The S.S. Huebner Foundation organizes and hosts the Colloquium with the American Risk and Insurance Association (ARIA) in conjunction with the ARIA annual meeting each August.

CEAR/HUEBNER SUMMER RISK INSTITUTE
Co-hosted with CEAR annually on Georgia State University’s downtown Atlanta campus, this program exposes Ph.D. students and interested faculty to relevant, cutting-edge risk models, tools, and theory through a series of seminars presented by world-renowned academics.

HUDBNER TEACHER TRAINING
Through a series of seminars organized by GSU professor, Stefanos Orfanos, this program aims to transform Huebner Scholars and other outstanding local and international Ph.D. candidates into confident and effective educators. Participants are introduced to important topics in modern applied pedagogy and are challenged to apply these acquired skills and knowledge to their own risk and insurance courses.

By connecting beginning and advanced instructors, these seminars provide an invaluable source of community building by providing mentoring opportunities and a forum to ask questions about best practices in risk and insurance education. The program also provides assistance in the development of the student’s teaching portfolios that support their search for employment.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
The Huebner Foundation boasts an active Board of Directors that donates hours of their expertise and financial contributions annually.

RMI HIGHER EDUCATION NEEDS YOU
Our success in providing these critical scholarships and valuable educational programs depends on annual financial contributions from individuals, corporations, and foundations. Make your gift online through our website, by check, or through donation of securities. Checks may be mailed to the address listed above.

Contact Us:
John Thielman – Executive Director, jthielman@gsu.edu
Leslie Harrington – Development Associate, lharrington@gsu.edu
BOARDS OF DIRECTORS

The Huebner Foundation boasts an active Board of Directors that donates hours of their expertise and financial contributions annually.

C. Robert Henrikson
Retired Chairman, President, CEO of MetLife, Inc.

Ralph Arnold
Retired CRO, Life & Protection of Transamerica

Jeffrey Bowman
President & CEO Arcarius Consultancy and Chair of Global Risk Solutions

Donna Kinnaird
Retired COO of Reinsurance Group of America

James Moore
President Avalana

Richard Phillips
Dean of Georgia State University Robinson College of Business

Stan Talbi
Retired Executive Vice President, Chief Risk Officer MetLife, Inc.

Brady Young
President & CEO Strategic Risk Solutions

EMERITUS BOARD MEMBERS

Tom Hardy
Emeritus Unity Financial Life Insurance Company

Jerry Rosenbloom
Emeritus Frederick H. Ecker Emeritus Professor of Insurance and Risk Management Wharton School, University Pennsylvania Insurance Company
RMI HIGHER EDUCATION NEEDS YOU

Our success in providing these critical scholarships and valuable educational programs depends on annual financial contributions from individuals, corporations, and foundations. Make your gift online through our website, by check, or through donation of securities. Checks may be mailed to the address listed above.

Contact Us:
John Thielman – Executive Director, jthielman@gsu.edu
Nicholas Posey – Administrative Associate, nposey1@gsu.edu